

GCH3 Run# 2263 Report

Hare: Fuck All

Location: I Am Thai, Shop 2/105 West Burleigh Road, Burleigh Heads

After a false start heading to Elvis's favourite Thai restaurant, Sir Ferrett, myself and Two Streets from Melbourne H3 ended up at the correct Thai restaurant where a large group of hashers had assembled in the car park. On obtaining assurances from the hare Fuck All that no one was going to be towed, everyone was looking forward to a good night.

At 6pm, GM Commander Head called the pack to order and Fuck All gave the instructions for the run and walk. The runners and walkers headed off together on a path before the run/walk split. The walker's trail of approximately 3km was dead flat through streets, easements and parks. Botcho measured the run at 4.7km. Some confusion was evident on trail due to diminishing arrows towards the end and the practice of putting turn arrows some distance from the actual change in direction.

Just short of the end of the trail I managed to find a tree root and hit the deck. I'm missing some bark on the palm and little finger of my left hand as well as my left knee. A visit to the Mermaid Medical Centre was made this morning for some running repairs and a combined Tetanus shot. My Samsung S10+ is decidedly worst off needing a new screen despite being in a Spigen Liquid Air Armor case.

GM Commander Head called the pack to order and welcomed the assembled crowd. First course of business was announcement of the new run fees. After a thorough going over of the books, run fees have been reduced to $15 with visitors free for their first two runs. Birthday beers are now free.

Hare Fuck All was called into the circle.

Blue Card gave a walk report and awarded it a 2/10. Iceman noted the lack of trail markings and rated the run a 6/10.

Returning runners and visitors Magician, BB, Tony and Two Streets were called into the circle. Two Streets was asked how long he had been in Queensland, to which he replied five days.

RA Shat took over the circle, resplendent in his regalia, and blessed the returners and visitors with the holy beer.

Returner Magician was called into the circle to receive his AGPU pack.

Charges followed.

All Tasmanians were called into the circle. VD, being the only one present, was then read an article by the RA stating that 50% of all Tasmanians are functionally illiterate. He then asked VD why, it being common knowledge that all Tasmanians were inbred and had two heads, why he had kept his current one.

Botcho charged that despite his best effort to give detailed run location instructions each week, several hashers obviously do not read them. Those hashers who had gone to the incorrect venue this week were called into the circle. Jigsaw and Slug owned up and were given a down down.

A series of stories and charges involving Gold Coast hashers and lost and stolen bikes then followed.

Badger reported that his bike and bike rack had gone missing off the back of his caravan on Slab's Rail Trail bike ride. It appears that Aussie may have suffered a similar fate losing a bike rack, two bikes and a spare wheel off the back of his vehicle during his current travels.

SPV recounted how his Mongoose bike had been stolen and Fanny Charmer on the two bikes he had stolen in Moree. It was suggested at the time that Fanny Charmer ask Miscarriage to contact his 'relatives' to recover them.

S Bends charged Fuck All about the time he contacted S Bends to tell him that his bike had gone missing and suggested that he would pick up a replacement one from the tip. S Bends and Fuck All then had an exchange in Afrikaans where S Bends expressed how he wasn't happy with that proposed solution. On another matter, we will have Fuck All for a bit longer as whilst the Thai Government would let him in, the Australian Government has decided they won't let him go.

On Sec Slug was called to give an update on coming events:

Mackay H3 40 Years of Hashing - 24th to 26th September 2021.

Gympie H3 40 years of Hashing - 8th to 10th October 2021.

Details of these and other upcoming runs can be found on the Queensland Hash page:

Prick of the Week

KB called all registered engineers into the circle. SPV and Hard On obliged and KB recounted the story of striking a protrusion at D'Arcy Arms, that had obviously designed by an engineer, with his vehicle. And the winner of POW was Hard On.

Commander Head asked SPV if he remembered what year he was first on committee as GM. SPV correctly recalled the year was 1988. The GM commented that he had been on the same committee.

The GM called for jokes from the circle. Brewtus and Two Streets obliged. Two Streets told the one about a bloke whose wife died in Jerusalem. He was told it would cost $500 to bury her there or $45,000 to fly her home. The bloke said he would fly her body home for burial and when asked why, said he remembered the story about a bloke who had been buried there and had come back to life three days later.

It seems some of our hashers, who had always had a good appreciation of wine, are moving upscale as it was revealed Caustic had purchased two pallets of wine destined for China.

The GM called for "end of circle" and the pack adjourned to I Am Thai restaurant. Kwakka and Hard On handled the sign on. Pizza even made an appearance to catch up his mate Two Streets. A number of tasty dishes were served and Truckie made sure everyone paid the very reasonable cost of $15. Corkscrew thought it was pretty good value.

Many thanks to SPV, Mad Mike and Dr Death for the medical assistance and to Fanny Charmer for taking most of the photos on the night.

Never let the truth interfere with a good story.

On On,

Slug
